LATEST EPISODE OF VALLEY BEAT NOW AVAILABLE

The latest episode of the public safety program Valley Beat is now appearing on cable television and online in Rosemount. The program is a joint production of the police departments of Apple Valley, Farmington, and Rosemount.

The latest edition covers the months of August through October. It includes features on how the departments support each community's summer celebration, including Rosemount's Leprechaun Days. Rosemount Police Chief Mitchell Scott also explains the rules for hunting in the City.

The program will be shown at multiple times on the local government access channels on the cable TV systems serving Rosemount. The schedule and a link to an online version of Valley Beat are available on the City website at <http://ci.rosemount.mn.us/index.aspx?NID=604>.
